

Graduate Application Instructions

Doctor of Regulatory Science

Deadline for Submission of the applications: June 15th for the Fall application term

Applying for admission to the Regulatory Science doctoral graduate degree program at USC is a two-part process. It is important that you familiarize yourself first with the Graduate School Admissions webpage <http://www.usc.edu/admission/graduate/>. After reviewing this information, you will want to proceed below, with the two-part process:

Part One.

The following information/documents must be submitted to the USC Graduate Admission Office by the noted program deadline:

You can complete the Part One online application by going to the website:

<http://www.usc.edu/admission/graduate/applyonline/>

- Online USC application for admission (note here the POST CODE 1349 for DRSc Regulatory Science degree);
- Application fee of $85.00;
- Three (3) letters of recommendation, academic or professional demonstrating leadership capabilities (we recommend that students have their recommenders complete their recommendations online. To do so, select “yes” to the question “Will this provider be submitting a letter of recommendation online.” The recommender will then receive an email and password from Apply Yourself so that they can complete the recommendation form. You are responsible for ensuring that your recommenders upload an accompanying letter of recommendation to the system in addition to completing the online fillable form);
- Statement of purpose - 1 page, single-spaced, 12 point font, 1 inch margins;
- Resume; and
- Official transcripts of credit mailed directly from all former colleges and universities attended (undergraduate/graduate level coursework) to USC Office of Admission (Please note that we may have some of these documents if you have previously taken a program with us):

USC Office of Admission
